

GED Test Preparation

Summary

How to prepare for a GED test

Classroom Instruction

You may contact our Department of Transitional Studies at (828) 398-7433 or AdultEd@abtech.edu to reserve a spot in an upcoming registration and orientation session. If you are interested in attending at our Madison Campus, please call (828) 398-7700. For further information, go to abtech.edu/adult-education.

Prepare online for the GED

You can study for the GED online by enrolling in A-B Tech's online program. After completing your online study, the actual test must be taken in person on the Asheville campus or one of our A-B Tech satellite locations. To get started, call (828) 398-7433 or email AdultEd@abtech.edu.

Orientation will be your first step in getting started. At your orientation session, you'll be able to take an initial placement assessment. When you come back for advisement, you can enroll in the online program.

Office Location

The Transitional Studies department (formerly known as Adult Basic Education, High School Equivalency, or the GED Office) is in Hemlock Building, room 303, 304, and 305 (#20 on our campus map). Their hours are Monday–Friday, 8:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.
